

This architectural floor plan shows a rectangular building layout. A central vertical corridor contains a staircase, indicated by a set of parallel lines. To the left of the staircase is a large rectangular room, and to the right is a circular room with a central circular feature, possibly a well or a large window. The plan is overlaid with a grid of dashed red lines, with vertical lines labeled 'D' and 'B' at the top and bottom, and horizontal lines labeled 'A' on the left and right. Various smaller rooms, corridors, and structural details are shown throughout the plan.